

The guard went and told all his family about Jesus.
They all listened to Paul and Silas
and they all believed in Jesus too.
Like Paul and Silas they were now God's children.

A long time ago, it was the rule that no one could talk about Jesus, or they would be put into jail.
Paul and Silas loved Jesus. They told everyone about Him, so they were locked up.

It wasn't nice having heavy chains on your legs.
It was cold and they were hungry too,
but they knew that God was with them,
right there in the dark, cold jail. He was their helper.

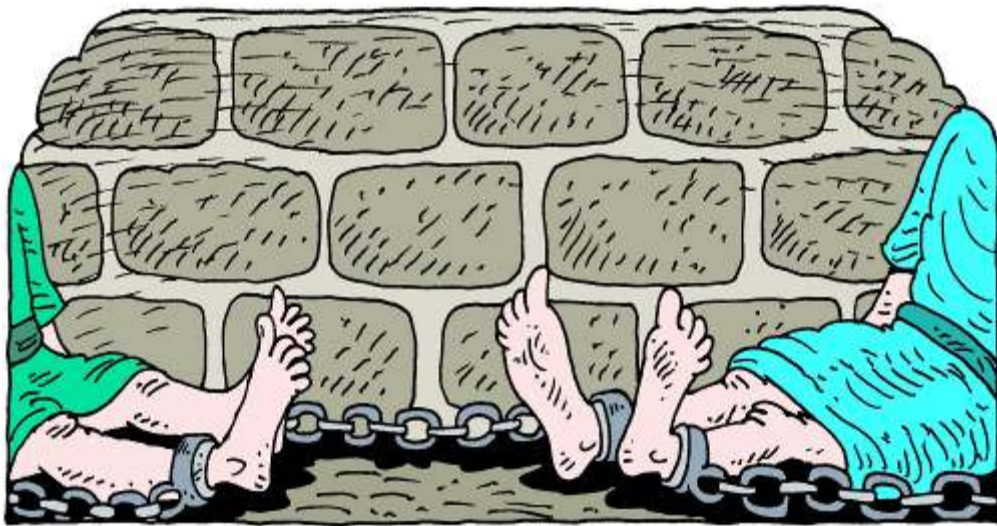

2

Just believe that Jesus Christ is God's Son and you, too, will become God's child.

"I have heard you singing and thanking God.
No one would do that unless they really believed what God had done was true," said the guard.
"I believe Jesus is God's Son and He is alive again."

“Tell me about Jesus,” the guard said. “I want to believe too.”
Paul told him, “Jesus was sent to earth by God.
He healed and helped people, then died on a cross.
Now He is alive from being dead, just as God had promised.”

They cheered each other up with words from the Bible and prayed. They talked about Jesus and sang songs all night.
The other prisoners and guards heard them singing and said,
“How can anyone sing and thank God in such an awful place?”

Their friends were praying that God would save them.
One night, a big earthquake shook all the prison doors open.
The guards were frightened. The prisoners would run away and they would be in big trouble.

But, Paul and Silas did not run away and the guard was so pleased to see them.
“We stayed because God is with us and we believe that Jesus is God’s Son,” they told the guard.
