

Noah And The Amazing Ark

By Jill Kemp

Illustrated by Richard Gunther

God told Noah to build a big boat, because He was going to send a flood to cover the land.
He told him exactly how big to build it.

It was God's plan to save Noah and his family
and a father and mother
of all the animals and birds.

Noah trusted and obeyed God
and he taught his family
to do what was good and right.
He told them about God's plan to save them.

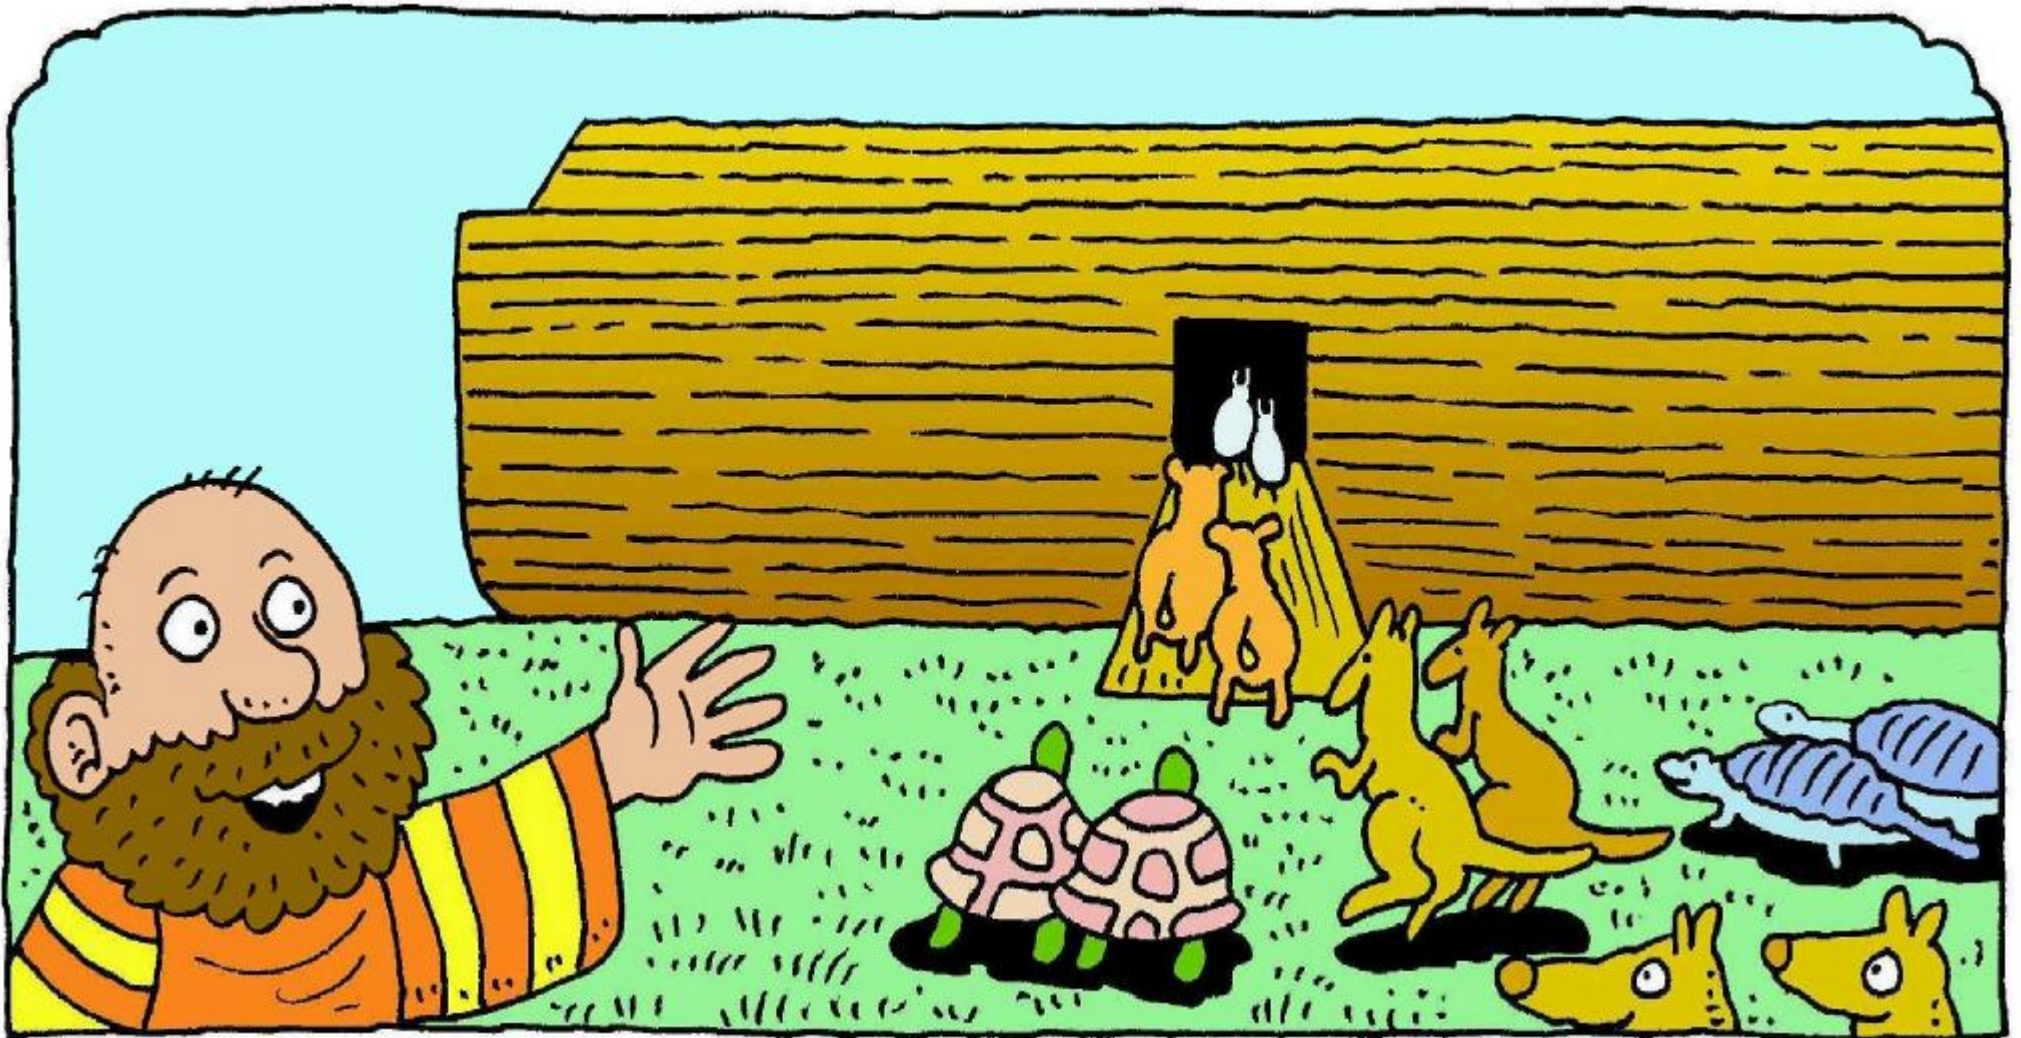

Noah's sons worked hard helping their father to get enough logs of Gopher wood to build the amazing boat.

People made fun of Noah for building a boat where there was no water to sail it. "Turn away from your bad way of living and trust God," pleaded Noah.

God called the boat an ark.
It was to be about as long as two football fields and three stories high,
with a window and a door.

Then God sent the animals into the Ark,
before the rain came and flooded the land.
Only Noah and his family were safe,
because they obeyed God.
